in the year 1784, the first time that the city of Philadelphia was visited by the pestilence, which was then called the yellow fever. It was first seen in the month of August, and continued to rage with great violence until the month of October, when it at length subsided. The number of persons who died of this disease in the city of Philadelphia was upwards of ten thousand.

the first thing we do on the first day is to take our children to the park. We have a great time there. We play on the equipment and have a picnic. It's a wonderful day. We have a lot of fun. We are all happy. We are all together. We are all together. We are all together.
