The first of these is the fact that the world is not a simple machine, but a complex system of interacting parts.
 The second is that the world is not a static system, but a dynamic one.
 The third is that the world is not a uniform system, but a heterogeneous one. The fourth is that the world is not a closed system, but an open one.
 The fifth is that the world is not a linear system, but a non-linear one.
 The sixth is that the world is not a deterministic system, but a probabilistic one. The seventh is that the world is not a predictable system, but an unpredictable one. The eighth is that

 world is not a uniform whole, but is divided into many different parts, each of which has its own characteristics and laws. This is the case with the human mind, which is not a single entity, but is composed of many different faculties, each of which has its own powers and limitations. It is this diversity of faculties that makes the human mind so interesting and so valuable.

The second of these is the fact that the human mind is not a passive receiver of impressions, but is an active and creative power. It is this activity and creativity that
 interesting and so valuable.
