Chinese text, likely a poem or narrative passage, written in vertical columns from right to left. The text is enclosed in a rectangular border. The characters are small and densely packed, typical of traditional Chinese printing. The rightmost column likely contains the title or chapter heading, while the subsequent columns contain the main body of text.

Handwritten text in vertical columns, likely bleed-through from the reverse side. The text is dense and appears to be a continuous passage.

Handwritten title or section header, possibly in a larger or bolder script than the main text.

Handwritten text in vertical columns on the right page, continuing the content from the left page.
