Handwritten text in a rectangular frame, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The text is arranged in several lines and appears to be a list or a series of entries, possibly related to a collection or inventory. The handwriting is cursive and somewhat faded, making it difficult to read accurately. The text is contained within a double-line rectangular border.

Handwritten text in a rectangular box on the right page, likely a list or index of entries.

The first of these is the fact that the government has been unable to maintain a stable exchange rate since the introduction of the floating rate system in 1972.
This has led to a steady decline in the value of the pound against the dollar, which has in turn led to a loss of confidence in the pound as a unit of account.
The second major problem is the high level of inflation which has been experienced since 1972.
This has led to a loss of confidence
in the pound as a unit of account.
The third major problem is the high level of unemployment which has been experienced since 1972.
This has led to a loss of confidence
in the pound as a unit of account.

The first part of the book is devoted to a general description of the country and its inhabitants.
 The author describes the various tribes and their customs, and the different parts of the country. He also mentions the different languages spoken by the people, and the different religions which they profess.

The second part of the book is devoted to a description of the different parts of the country. The author describes the different mountains, rivers, and lakes, and the different cities and towns. He also mentions the different plants and animals which are found in the country.

Index

The third part of the book is devoted to an index of the names of the different tribes, cities, and towns mentioned in the book.
 The index is arranged in alphabetical order, and gives the page number at which each name is mentioned.

The fourth part of the book is devoted to a description of the various species of plants and animals which are found in the island of Celebes. The author has been very particular in his descriptions, and has given many interesting particulars concerning the habits and manners of the natives. He has also given a list of the principal cities and towns, and has described the various parts of the island.

The first of these is the fact that the
 secure the necessary funds to carry out its policy. This is due to the fact that the
 raise the necessary funds from the public. This is due to the fact that the public has been unwilling to lend the government the necessary funds. This is due to the fact that the public has been unwilling to lend the government the necessary funds because of the government's policy of high interest rates.
 This policy has been a failure because it has led to a situation where the government is unable to raise the necessary funds to carry out its policy.
 This is a serious problem for the government and it must be solved as soon as possible.

The first part of the book is devoted to a general history of the country, and a description of its natural resources. The author then proceeds to a detailed account of the various tribes and nations which inhabit the region, and their customs and manners. The work is well illustrated with numerous engravings of the principal objects of interest, and is accompanied by a copious appendix containing a list of the names of the various places mentioned in the text. The book is written in a clear and concise style, and is well adapted for the use of students and travellers alike.
