The first part of the book is a general introduction to the subject of the history of the world. It begins with a description of the world as it was in the beginning, and then proceeds to a description of the world as it is at present. The author then discusses the various causes of the world's history, and the various events that have shaped it.

The second part of the book is a detailed account of the history of the world, from the beginning of time to the present. It is divided into several chapters, each dealing with a different period of history. The chapters are:

- Chapter I: The beginning of the world.
- Chapter II: The world in the beginning.
- Chapter III: The world in the middle.
- Chapter IV: The world in the end.

The third part of the book is a collection of various historical events and facts, arranged in chronological order. It includes a list of the various empires and kingdoms that have existed in the world, and a list of the various wars and battles that have been fought.
